Image of the Year - 2017

23 November 2017

The Judge this night, renowned photographer Les Brown, entertained us this evening with his judging of 30 prints and 47 digital images.

Below we see the individual winners of each category

Thank you to the judge and congratulations to all the entrants

Category Winners

Colour Print

Anna Roustoby.....“Autumn in Gloucester Street”

The original image was taken at the Rocks. It was very bland looking, so I increased the colour, saturation and added a texture to give it a more artistic feel. I also added a cobblestone street, cat and sky and removed the 21st century elements to make it appear like something from a previous century!

Mono Print
Bob Rizk..... "Bridge in Paris"

On a holiday in Paris the picture was taken during a stroll along the Sein. The combination of river boats, bridge, buildings in the background and most of all, the stormy clouds, made the picture. Processed in Photoshop; lots of dodging and burning and sky clouds enhancement.

Colour Digital
Ruth Purnell...."Deadvlei"

"Deadvlei" - this was my first visit to Sossusvlei (Namibia) clay pans of "Deadvlei", taken handheld just after sunrise. The minimal colours in the clay pan area are a strong contrast with the beauty of the decayed trees.

Mono Digital
Ruth Purnell....“Alone”

“Alone” - taken from a high hill overlooking Windermere Dam (near Mudgee) with a long lens at sunset with the feature tree capturing the light from the setting sun - image darkened to highlight this effect.
